- Simple platformer in which the hero always jumps. In this mini game it is necessary to collect 20 items, including food and water to unblock a key.

- Platformer in which it is possible to change 2d perspectives. In this mini game it is necessary to include all green lamps to unblock a key.

who the f dies after playing a game for 3 minutes?. i paid for this game because I thought it looks awesome, but then I played it, it's just a repeatitive game where you get food from games, I spent $0.99, I know that's a little price, but if it's going to be paid for, it better be d4mn good, I really disliked this \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 game.. Game Simulator fails at being what it states it is....a simulator.....heres why. For one the games are incredibly hard and frustrating, I should, as a gamer be able to easily clear them...secondly why are the food pick ups in the game within the game...they should be in the "real world" where perhaps for food you have to call for pizza and wait, for the drink you have to hobble to the fridge....missed opportunity for this game. Overall very unrealistic.....well only realistic part is that its a console peasant starving and playing crappy games :). The games are confusing, there is a food and water bar, delayed controls, the games arent even good. Way to confusing, and i was lost in a video i made for it :P. Terrible game I bought this thinking it would be cool and it would be updated often, how \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665ing stupid was I? It might be more fun if they added new minigames.. This simulator is perfect! It feels like I'm really uninstalling a crap Unity game made of 2 lazily slapped together "minigames" and getting a refund for it.

Oh wait no, I'm doing that in real life.. i cant even jump high on that guy jumping everytime and doesnt stop jumping. I launch Gamer Simulator and I become a Gamer. In Gamer Simulator, I launch Gamer Simulator and I become a Gamer. In Gamer Simulator's Gamer Simulator, I launch Gamer Simulator and I become a Gamer. In Gamer Simulator's Gamer Simulator's Gamer Simulator, I. It kept me entertained for at least 30 mins and it's naturally 5$ I paid 0.49. It's okay I guess for 0.49 but,I wouldn't recommend it,I got bored after playing the exact same games over at least 3 times.

For 4.99 this isn't worth it at full price. If you're able to get more entertainment out of this than I did,well good for you then. Though I seriously can not recommend this especially with it saying this is 0.01 Alpha. Shouldn't this be listed as early access as well? Well anyways,yeah it gets boring quite fast.

If you don't think my review is fair,then let me sum up the game. You play a game,you collect food,water,from the game in order to survive and to not die and if you become too bored as well,you die of boredom. You get a key for beating game,just to move on to the next room which seems to be a remake of the exact same games.

In all seriousness if you could die of boredom,this game possibly would have killed me.

Freakin amazing! At first I didnt really know what to expect, I thought ot was gonna be a casual game where you just play a bunch of video games and well, it's kinda like that but better! A little laggy but thats all.. I really regret buying this game. The "mini-games" as they are called look horrible and control very badly. Buttons not responding and just generally floaty controlls.

The games graphics look horrible even on max. settings.

The "mini-games" themselves are very bad, broken and boring. Just collect X and get a key, kill X enemies and get the key or get to X and get the keys.

While you play the "mini-games" you need to collect burgers and soft drinks so you dont die. However there are far to few of them and with how slow the games play it is very hard to complete a room. And if you do complete a room the next room will just boot the same game again.... I only regret pending 48.99999 cents of the 49 cents I spent on this. It is a VERY simple, although well put together graphics wise game that reminds me some of free phone apps. HOWEVER, it makes a silly gage gift and I did end up buying more than one copy even tho Ive played it for less than a half an hour and am more or less over it lol its a silly idea that could be kind of cool...... but isnt.
